New Mural Celebrates Lewisville's Spirit

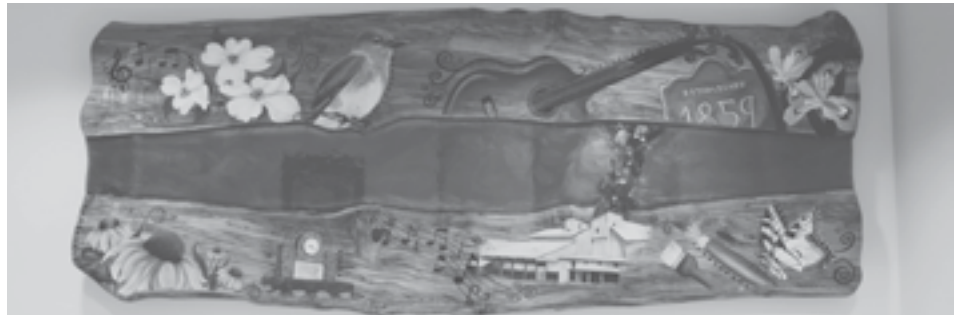

The Town celebrated the unveiling of a new mural at the Mary Alice Warren Community Center, and you should see it!

Local artist, Missy Pardue, and her partner, Jason, brought this incredible piece to life, fusing wood and resin to capture the incredible charm of Lewisville's small-town culture and natural beauty.

Heartfelt gratitude extends to the Shallow Ford Foundation for their generous grant for this project, and the Town for matching it.

You can learn more about this piece and other public art in Lewisville by visiting lewisvillenc.net/art.

Lewisville Welcomes Angie Lord as New Town Clerk

The Town of Lewisville is delighted to welcome Angie Lord as our new Town Clerk! Her first day with Lewisville was May 1.

"We are very fortunate to have Angie join our team. She brings with her a wealth of clerk experience and will be a great asset to our staff, council, and residents," Mayor Mike Horn said.

"Angie is a master certified clerk, has 11+ years of experience, and has already shown she is a great fit for Lewisville," Town Manager Stacy Tolbert said.

From Your Mayor It's Not Too Late

Back a few decades ago, times were simpler, or so it seemed. Courtesy, kindness, compassion, and generosity were emblematic of who we were as a nation. Even during one of the most culturally turbulent times in our history, we still aspired to be a country of fairness, equality, and opportunity for everyone.

Back in the late 60s, a typical Sunday evening at our house involved sitting down as a family to watch TV. It was either Bonanza, if my father got to the TV first, or The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour if I got there first. It was also a time when if you wanted to change TV channels you had to get up from the couch and go twist the knob, or in the Keys, go outside and physically turn the roof antenna a quarter turn to the right from NBC to CBS.

What a paradox of TV viewing, one program told the story of a widowed father raising three boys in the wild west of Nevada in the mid-1800s. The other program presented the uncomfortable truths of the day through music, comedy, and variety. One show ran for 22 years, the other was canceled after three seasons because it was too controversial for its sponsors.

All of this came back to me last week when I watched the brilliantly produced special on PBS that celebrated the folk music of the '60s and '70s. Music from now legends Bob Dylan, Joan Baez, Judy Collins, the Kingston Trio, and of course, Peter, Paul, and Mary.

"If I had a hammer, I'd sing about justice. I'd sing about freedom. I'd sing about the love between my brothers and sisters all over this land."

My apologies to those under 50 for this reminiscence, but sometimes nostalgia is both comforting and very good for the soul.

I'm sounding like an old fogie, but the lyrics of the time reflected not only the cultural upheaval but hope for the future. Remember the Byrds, 1965?

"A time to gain, a time to lose. A time to rend, a time to sew. A time for love, a time for hate.

A time for peace, I swear it's not too late."

It's been half a century since our nation faced internal stress like we are now experiencing. It seems we are looking at virtually everything through the divisive lens of partisan politics.

For more than 30 years, since our incorporation, we've been so fortunate to have men and women serving us on our town council who have kept politics out of policy making. Whether we were a D, R, or U, no one cared. We were a non-partisan council. We just wanted to do the best job we could for the residents we represented.

However, in this next election, that will change. Without any consultation, and over our objections, our town's previous senator and our current representative to the North Carolina legislature decided to make our little town partisan.

Maybe this is fine, maybe not. My concern for the future is that our little town council may become as confrontational, self-serving, and as politically polarized as our partisan state legislature and national government.

So that's why I am asking those of you interested in the future of Lewisville to consider running for a term on our council in the upcoming election. We need those who won't be controlled by party, who see our great promise as a town and will do as we have done since our inception – stand for what is right, fair, and honorable for our residents. The filing period begins on Monday, July 7th, and ends on Friday, July 18th.

"A time to gain, a time to lose. A time to rend, a time to sew. A time for love, a time for hate.

A time for peace, I swear it's not too late."

As always, I welcome your comments.

Stay in the UDO-Know: Unified Development Ordinance Update

This summer the Lewisville Planning Board and Town Council will vote to adopt a comprehensively revised Unified Development Ordinance (UDO).

The UDO is home to all of Lewisville's zoning, subdivision and environmental regulations. Together with the Lewisville Tomorrow Comprehensive Plan, the UDO provides a complete framework for managing growth and development within the Town of Lewisville.

The current version was first adopted shortly after the town incorporated in 1991, very closely mirroring the Forsyth County UDO at the time. Since then, it has been amended from time to time. However, recent changes to state laws, along with the growth and development of Lewisville over the last 30 years have made much of the current UDO out of date. This will be the first complete UDO review and rewrite.

Lewisville planning staff have been working in detail with a consulting firm over the last two years to bring this about.

The principal goal of the rewrite is to better align the UDO with Lewisville's contemporary needs and goals.

The process of adopting the UDO has included a public engagement session, held May 14. The Planning Board also held a public hearing June 11, during which board members voted unanimously to adopt the revised version.

The Town Council is scheduled to hold a public hearing August 14 when its members will consider a final vote to adopt the new UDO. Lewisville residents are encouraged to attend this meeting.

If you would like more information, please contact the Lewisville Planning Director at 336-945-1028 or lcochran@lewisvillenc.net.

Town Clerk Dora Moore Begins Next Chapter in Retirement

Lewisville Town Clerk, Dora Moore, is retiring after serving the Town for 4 years, with an impressive career of over 30 years of service in local government.

"Dora has been an asset to the Town, especially in working with our boards and committees," Town Manager Stacy Tolbert said. "Dora has always had great ideas, a positive civil servant attitude, and when she puts her mind to something, she will succeed!"

Dora was hired as Town Clerk in November of 2021 and has worn many hats in her time with Lewisville. Her role as clerk included maintaining town records and coordinating town boards and committees. Several of her contributions to the town include inspiration for and roles in the annual National Night Out at Shallowford Square and the Holiday Movie Night at the Mary Alice Warren Community Center. She has also been largely involved with the planning and execution of the local public art shows at the center.

"While I am so proud and excited for Dora and her next journey, she will be greatly missed," Tolbert said.

She is married to Scott and looks forward to traveling with him more in her retirement, as well as spending time with their two children, Seth and Sierra.

The Town of Lewisville wishes Dora all the best on her next adventure!

New Town Clerk Lord

Government work found Angie, as she had previously worked in pre-school education, but she quickly fell in love with serving the community. In 2013, she accepted a role as Assistant City Clerk for the City of Greensboro before being promoted to Deputy City Clerk and then City Clerk.

Angie is involved with the North Carolina Association of Municipal Clerks (NCAMC), including serving on various committees and on the Executive Board as the Recording Secretary and District 9 Director. She is also a member of the International Institute of Municipal Clerks (IIMC).

She is a North Carolina native, growing up in Wayne County. Angie is married to Johnny Lord, and they have three beautiful daughters, three wonderful sons-in-law, three very cool grandsons, a brilliant granddaughter-in-law, a sassy granddaughter, and two more "grands" on the way!

Outside of work, Angie enjoys reading and crafting. She also loves spending time with her grandchildren, of course!

Please join us in welcoming Angie Lord to Lewisville. We are excited to have her on board and look forward to her contributions and achievements with us.

Lewisville Safety
Welcome
Deputy Robert Boggs

The Town of Lewisville is pleased to announce that Deputy Robert Boggs joined the Town's public safety team in April of 2025.

Before joining Lewisville, Boggs served for over seven years with the Davidson County Sheriff's Office (DCSO). He has experience as a sergeant, corporal, negotiator, and medic for their SWAT team.

"I wanted to follow in my grandfathers' footsteps," he said. Being a deputy is in Boggs' blood, as his grandfather also served in law enforcement.

Outside of work, Boggs is a part-time firefighter/EMT with the Midway Fire Department. He enjoys spending time fishing and hunting with his kids. He and his wife, Meghan, have two children.

As a North Carolina native, Boggs says he enjoys Lewisville. "I like that it is a small town that reminds me of my hometown, where everyone knows everyone," he said.

Summer! By now, you have planted your garden and are hoping for later harvests. These two months are typically the hottest of the year. Our most precious resource, water, is in high demand. Here in the Piedmont, we have a relative abundance of liquid gold. That makes regulating our water usage easy to forget.

Please remember, don't leave a hose or sprinkler unattended, since overwatering can be as harmful to plants as drought. If you use small pools or slip 'n slides, rotate them around your yard to spread the water and avoid dead spots. Car needs a wash? Take it to an actual car wash, so the soapy water goes to a treatment facility, not into our stormwater drains. But most importantly, have a fantastic summer with safe, environmental water fun. And don't forget to keep saving weird recyclables for our October 18th event by Shallowford Square.

Lewisville Honored with State Award for Communications

We are proud to share that the Town of Lewisville was among 27 North Carolina jurisdictions honored at the North Carolina City & County Communicators (NC3C) 2025 Excellence in Communications Awards.

Taking home second place in print for the category of Employee Newsletter, this award highlights the creativity and dedication of Lewisville's Communications Specialist Veronica Leasure. Her efforts helped spotlight the great work happening in our community.

This award was officially presented at the annual NC3C conference in April, where Veronica accepted the honor on behalf of the Town.

From the Firehouse Fireworks Safety

As Independence Day approaches, your local fire departments emphasize the importance of celebrating safely and responsibly. Fireworks, while festive, pose significant risks when misused. Follow these essential safety tips to ensure a safe holiday for all.

Fireworks Safety Tips

Supervise Children: Never allow children to handle or ignite fireworks, including sparklers.

Use Outdoors Only: Light fireworks in open areas away from buildings, vehicles, dry grass, and other flammable materials.

One at a Time: Light fireworks one at a time and move away quickly after lighting.

Keep Water Nearby: Have a bucket of water or a garden hose ready.

Dispose Properly: After use, soak spent fireworks in water before discarding them to prevent trash fires.

Avoid Re-lighting: Never attempt to relight or handle malfunctioning fireworks. Wait 20 minutes and then soak them in water before disposal.

Know the Law: Educate yourself on the laws regulating fireworks in North Carolina.

Vicious Vines and Trucks on Fire

Have you walked through Jack Warren Park lately and wondered who's killing the plants? Keeping the "nature" in the nature trail is a concept that is really important to us here at the Town, but we're going to have to eradicate some insidious and entrenched outsiders before we can create a special spot for local flora and fauna.

A large percentage of the existing understory plants along the disc golf course and trails are invasive exotic weeds. You'll see the usual suspects like kudzu, wisteria, and privet, but a newer vegetative super villain on the local scene is Oriental Bittersweet. This is a woody vine that makes kudzu look slow and the birds spread it like mad thanks to what must be extremely tasty seeds. We'll have to spend some time kicking all these bullies out of the park land before we can really commit ourselves to planting and encouraging native flowers, shrubs, and trees; but we will, so please bear with us.

In other news, there was a fire inside a recycling truck in June. The driver had to dump an entire day's contents out on the street, extinguish the fire, then bring in equipment and dumpsters to clean it up and haul it all off. The fire was caused by a lithium battery someone had put in their recycling. While taking in the scene, I was also distraught to see just how many plastic bags are still going into the yellow-lidded carts. Seriously, y'all – please – stick to the list of approved recyclables and don't bag them! "Wish-cycling" only ends up as trash, and as we've seen, can potentially contaminate an entire load.

For a reminder of approved recyclables and where to take others, please see "Curbside Recycling" at lewisvillenc.net/recycling.
